INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE
Munich 2019

learn • explore • experience scientific knowledge • examples from real life meeting people from around the world

Welcome to the Wisdom Conference 2019 in Munich!

In the current process of change, many of us are now ready to act, to make a concrete contribution - we want to "get involved".

How do we find our own orientation in the overwhelming flood of information, urgencies and persuading offers to participate?

We have put together a wide range of lectures, workshops, panel discussions and room for meeting others.

Our speakers from various fields of science, business, education, social affairs, art and culture are already putting their ideas into practice. They show how they have been involved so far and are open to dialogue, exchange and reflection.

Let's question together what "getting involved" means for each of us. The clearer our motivation, the more powerful we can act.

We invite you to join us on this exciting journey.

Alfred and Yuko Tolle

Wisdom Together e.V.

is a non-forprofit association which brings together the wisdom of different people from all over the world for holistic changes in economy and society.

Alfred Tolle

Alfred Tolle is founder and chairman of Wisdom Together e.V. His international experience as a journalist and executive in large media and internet companies such as Bertelsmann, Lycos and Google in Asia, Europe and North America has led him to the realisation that getting in touch with the inner wisdom is becoming more and more important. His commitment and the exchange with people at Wisdom Together today enriches his work as a leadership coach.

Yuko Tolle

Yuko Tolle, co-founder of Wisdom Together e.V., has Japanese and German roots. She first studied cultural and economic sciences and worked for over twenty years in the mediation of art and culture between Asia and Europe. Her cross-cultural understanding of the human psyche and her in-depth studies of Asian and European alternative medicine is the foundation for her work as an alternative practitioner and energetic coach.

Leif Edvinsson

Prof. em. Leif Edvinsson is an important pioneer in the theory and practice of Intellectual Capital (IC). He founded the IC Institute in 1991 as its Director and became the first Professor of IC worldwide at the University of Lund and the Polytechnic University Hong Kong. Further stations: Prototyping in 1996 at the Skandia Future Center as Laboratory for Organizational Design. Founding Chairman of the New Club of Paris.

Angaangaq

Angaangaq is an elder of the Kalaallit Eskimos whose family is one of the traditional healers in Greenland. His commitment to the environment and indigenous peoples has taken him to more than 60 countries around the world. As a shaman, healer and storyteller on the Qilaut (wind drum) Angaangaq is "melting the ice in the heart of the people."

Michelle Long

Michelle Long is the founder of Jubilee, an investment platform dedicated to healing the earth and people. Jubilee offers innovative investors direct investment opportunities, advisory services and learning trips. Previously, she was the founding director of BALLE, a North American network of more than 125,000 local entrepreneurs, investors and philanthropists. She was named one of "The Purpose Economy 100".

Don Shaffer

Don Shaffer is co-founder of Jubilee. He is a thought leader in social finance and spent ten years as President and CEO of the Rudolf Steiner Foundation in San Francisco. He further taught Native American students and, since 1994, he has been active as co-founder and partner of San Francisco Bay Area-based social enterprises. His ancestors were Quakers from the Philadelphia area.

Tania Singer

Tania Singer is the Scientific Director of the Max Planck Research Group for Social Neurosciences in Berlin. She is the founder of the ReSource project, a large-scale long-term study on the effects of mental training on mind, brain, behavior and health. Together with Prof. Dennis J. Snower from the Kiel Institute for the World Economy she is investigating how findings from biology and psychology can overcome the omnipresent idea of homo oeconomicus.

Noboru Konno

Noboru Konno is a knowledge ecologist who is active in both the academic world and in business. He studied architecture, worked in marketing for global clients and taught design economics and knowledge science as a professor. He wrote his PhD in Management Information Science. Noboru is a professor at the Tama Graduate School of Management in Tokyo and the Graduate School of System Design and Management at Keio University Tokyo.

Irena Blazevice

Irena Baszevice is a passionate coach for personality development. She studied economy with a focus on novel governance structures, open democracy and cooperation, and is involved in various studies of the European Commission and international organisations. She is especially interested in the relationship between individual and collective awareness.

Laurita Peleniute

Laurita Peleniute is a Lithuanian singer who is able to present folklore in an inspiring way that opens her ancestral heritage. She combines the music and language of different cultures in her work. Her music inspires trust, enlivens and delights. She says: "The inner song is an inheritance that each one carries in his blood and is the way to ourselves. Anyone who sings with others will never feel lonely".

Ulrich Michel

Ulrich Michel primarily advises individuals, teams and organisations on projects and processes that require his expertise as a business lawyer, mediator and psychological coach. He has been a member and partner of a leading European law firm for over 21 years. Since 2018 he continues his work as an independent entrepreneur, focusing in particular on projects and clients that contribute to society.

Stefan Schridde

Stefan Schridde is a senior consultant for project development and creative crisis management. He is the initiator of the campaign and board member of a civic consumer protection organisation for sustainable product quality and against planned obsolescence. Therefore, he is in direct contact with governmental and non-governmental institutions and organisations.

Nipun Mehta

Through his work and being Nipun Mehta explores what it means to serve. He is the founder of ServiceSpace, an incubator for various gift-economy projects such as KarmaTube, DailyGood, KarmaKitchen and more. It is his deep conviction that in our time, instead of putting heroes on pedestals, it is vital for everyone to become an "Everyday Gandhi".

Lukas Klaschinsky

Due to his father's hardness of hearing Lukas Klaschinski developed his talent in clear articulation and expression at an early age. This makes him an excellent presenter today. Whether on TV, radio, in web formats or at events: authentic stories are his passion. As a presenter he brings in lightness and humour, as a studied psychologist a meta-perspective and professional competence.

Margret Rasfeld

Margret Rasfeld is an inspiring and encouraging, creative networker of ideas and people. As principal of the Evangelische Schule Berlin Zentrum she co-founded "Schule im Aufbruch", an initiative for systemic change in education. She advocates a shift towards a culture of unfolding potential with global impact.

Lobsang Phuntsok

Lobsang Phuntsok was born to an unmarried mother, considered difficult to educate and then sent to a Buddhist monastery where he finally found his way. After studying with the Dalai Lama and teaching Buddhism in the United States, he founded the children's village „Jhamtse Gatsal“ (tibet.: "love and compassion") in the Indian Himalayas. Today, the former monk lives there together with more than 80 children.

Anca Minescu

Anca Minescu received her doctorate from the University of Utrecht in research fellowship on migration, ethnic relations and multiculturalism. She works in the broad field of ethnic relations and looks at people's attitudes and interactions with members of different ethnic or political groups. Her research focuses on how people bring about social and political change. Currently, she is teaching at the University of Limerick.

Nils Carlsburg

Nils Carlsburg was an internationally successful entrepreneur at a young age already. Health issues caused him to question his life and his previous goals. Today he shares his personal experience in dealing with crisis and finding a new start with other people.

Jamila Tressel

Jamila Tressel is an author, coach, trainer and speaker at conferences. Together with two classmates she wrote the book „Wie wir Schule machen – Lernen, wie es uns gefällt“, at the age of 14. They call for the courage to change the educational system towards more independence, more responsibility, more experience for life. This year, the three authors received the EduAction Award for their commitment.

Cornelia Strobel

Cornelia Strobel studied Chemistry (PhD), with many years of professional experience in the industry. She also is an experienced hypnosystemic organizational consultant, coach and team developer. Since 2011, she has been combining both paths of experience as a shareholder and managing director of NEXT IMPACT GmbH. She believes that conscious decisions can release energy and engagement.

Dolpo Tulku Rinpoche

Dolpo Tulku Rinpoche was ordained at the age of nine as a monk at Kanying Shedrub Ling Monastery in Nepal at his own request. At the age of 15, he began his higher Buddhist studies at the University of Namdroling Monastery. There, he focused on the classical teachings of Buddha Sutra and Tantra and practiced the traditional art of debating. In addition, he studied Tibetan poetry, literature and general and Buddhist history.

Daniel Abreu

Daniel Abreu is a trainer for executives in national and international companies and active as an official negotiator in climate protection conferences for his home country the Dominican Republic. In addition, he is a social innovator for youth participation and founded the Municipal Youth Councils programme, an award-winning initiative, by which young people democratically elect their youth representation and successfully develop and implement their own initiatives.
